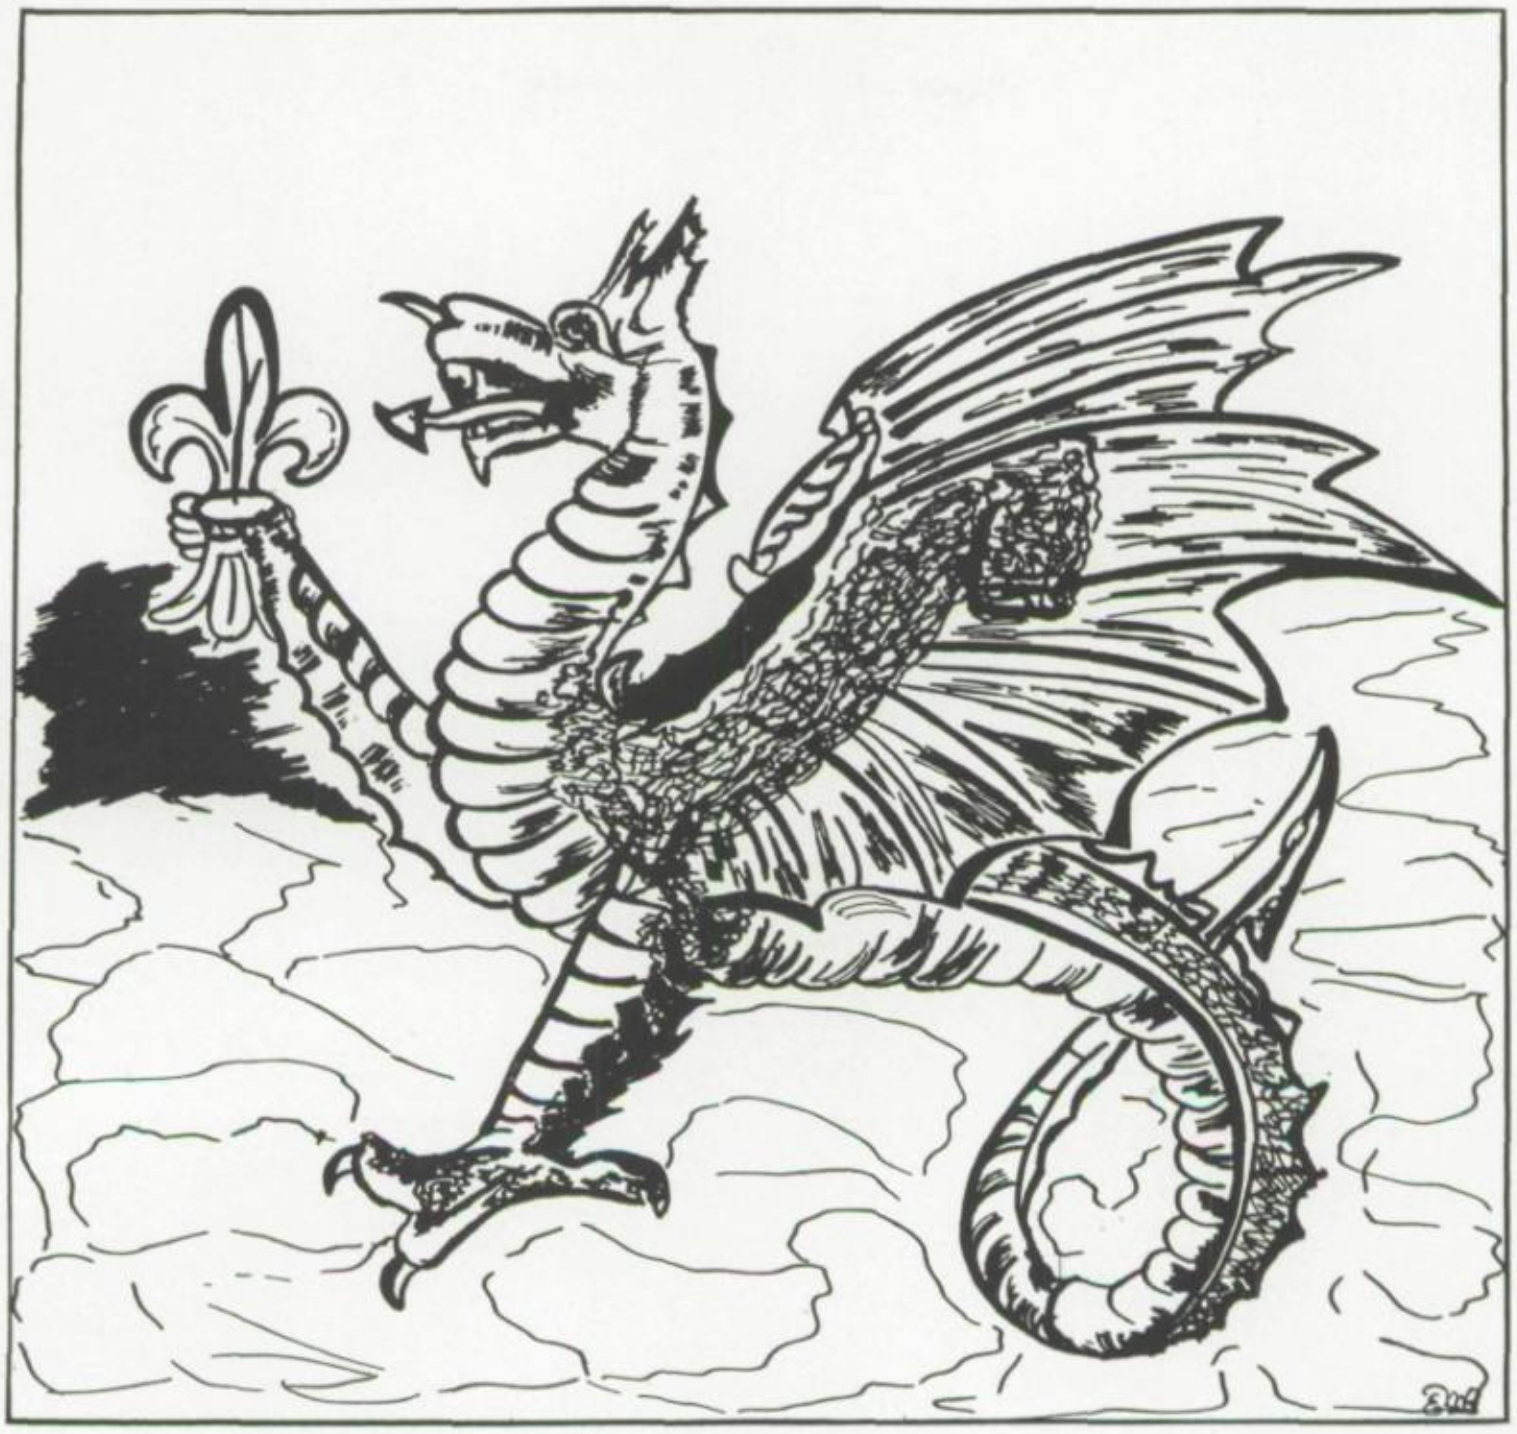
From every town and village in the United States have gone the young men and women for service in the Armed Forces of our country. It is to all those who now wear the uniform of the United States and especially to the members of the classes of '43 and '44 that this book is humbly dedicated.



FOREWORD

Here is the 1944 Mirror. We—the Mirror Staff—have tried to live up to its name by portraying life in ye old Malad High School as a true Mirror would. We hope this book will keep alive all your treasured memories of the school year 1943-44.

SCHOOL BOARD

ADMINISTRATION

From 1935 when Mr. Maeser first became superintendent of Malad Schools until the present year of 1944, his outstanding ability as a leader has made Malad one of the leading high schools of the state. With his long years in educational work, Mr. Maeser has with great understanding and foresight met the problems created by the present war. We, the students, feel fortunate in having such a man as leader of our schools.

Mr. Marchel, our high school principal, has been a helpful friend and given much assistance and advice in the student affairs. He has encouraged the students on toward greater successes in studies and all activities which were undertaken.

A. J. Thomas' friendly interest in the students of Malad High and their activities has made him an ideal adviser for the Student Council.

The Mirror Staff would like to extend our sincere thanks and appreciation to Miss Williams for her help and advise in editing this book.

Best wishes,
Ve Loy Buckingham

FOOTBALL 1943

Coach Jorgensen tutored the Malad High Dragons' football team to a really good football season. We lost only one game, but tied one—0 to 0. Our team was held first in the District.

Captain DeVon Anderson, stellar fullback, was the spark of our team, making sensational runs and long passes.

Having only five lettermen at the starting of the season Coach Jorgensen moulded a powerful ball club.

"A" SQUAD BASKETBALL

Coach Jorgensen had quite a job molding a formidable ball club out of the inexperienced boys that came out for basketball practice this year, but he took it all in his stride. The team containing such outstanding players as DeVon Anderson, Lyle Evans, Newel Cutler, DeVon Daniels, and Bill Parry had plenty of stamina and vigor, but sometimes lacked the scoring punch needed in the last quarter to win. Nevertheless our team made a successful season and Malad High School is justifiably proud of them. No team the Dragons met can boast that they didn't have a battle on their hands from the first minute to the last.

Our team won a total of 15 games and lost only 9 games, also amassing a total of 624 points to our opponents' 556. Below is a list of the games won and lost this year.

"B" SQUAD BASKETBALL

Making up what they lacked in experience and height in stamina and pluckiness the "B" Squad made an enviable record. Many of the boys will doubtless prove valuable mainstays on the "A" squad next year and two years hence.

Most of the opponents of the "B" squad were more experienced and much larger in stature, yet our plucky boys were in there fighting for Malad High all the time from the first minute to the last.

Malad High is indeed proud of the "B" Squad and of Coach Jorgensen.

Out of a total of 13 games we won 7 and lost only 6 games. Below is a list of games won and lost.

1942-43 BASKETBALL

In an extremely successful basketball season last year, Coach Jorgensen's Malad High Dragons took the district championship. They won 20 games, losing only 6 to their opponents.

Such outstanding players as Jack Evans, Jack Williams, and Grant Budge made this enviable record for our High School possible.

We amassed a total of 871 points to our opponents' 625.

1943-44 BOXING

Wayne Nielsen, coach of our Boxing Squad, molded some pretty good boxers out of the somewhat inexperienced boys that came out for practice this season. They faced older and more experienced fighters and, under the circumstances, did a fine job in fighting for the Malad High School. No boxer from any of our opponents can boast not having a stiff fight on his hands from the minute the bout started.

We had a comparatively poor season this year—winning one match and losing three—but with one more year of experience behind them, our boxers are confident they will do a better job next year. Let's give three cheers for the boxers of Malad High School.

We, the Seniors of noble heart,
Knowing that from this school we'll eventually part,
According to the custom of Fate and Time
We'll make our will in the form of a rhyme.
It's taken four years of sorrow and fun,
But the prize we sought at last is won,
We've known disappointments and had some wishes,
We've swept dusty halls and washed the dishes,
But for the joy of others.
We know our onions, and strut our stuff,
Just do something rash, then we get rough.
As this must be finished before we leave,
We'll now jot down what each member bequeaths.
(Taken from the 1938 Mirror)

I, DeVon Anderson, playboy of the town,
Will to Boyd Conley this worthy crown.

I, Lynn Ward (and I hope she won't tear them),
Will my pants to Joyce Gleed, she's been wanting to wear them.

I, Donna John, with a temper so mild,
Will to Norma Clark, the right to be wild.

I, Helen Crowther, so nice and coy,
Will to Carma Crowther the other Thomas boy.

I, Audrey Tubbs, with height to spare,
Will it to IvaLou Budge, do you think she will care?

I, Thayne Harris, with many a curl,
Will some poor Junior the right to a girl.

I, Ruth Archibald, with Lyman I'll linger,
Will to no one, the ring on my finger.

I, Helen Bowen, choice of the boys,
Will to Myrle Jones the right to treat them like toys.

I, Orlan Blaisdell, Malad High's shiek,
Will Lucy to no one, she's mine for keeps.

I, Inez Clabby, with my silly giggle,
Will to Fern Fry my original wiggle.

I, Gene Morgan, who is by no means a flop,
Will to Dean Parry my curly mop.

I, Neva Jean Nibert, would like to grow taller,
To leave my lip prints on Lyle Evans' collar.

I, Lucille Waldron, a sweet little miss,
Leave to Rex Schwartz a farewell kiss.

I, Ronald Nicholas, a lover of life,
Will to myself, Nadel for a wife.

I, Bonnie Kent, with my mind on the sea,
Will to no one my place on Dave's knee.

I, LaDene Williams, who is never mistaken,
Will my love to no one, it's already taken.

I, Marion Tovey, with nary a sigh,
Will my nickname "Mary Ann" to any poor guy.

I, LaRue Camp, so tiny and pert,
Will to Ann Marie, the power to flirt.

I, Della Beeton, in making my will,
Leave my comb to Lois Hill.

I, Lavar Christoffersen, the studious type,
Leave to Elton Ashton my worn-out pipe.

I, Ada Lusk, Don Gibbs' choice,
Will to Blair Thorpe my dainty voice.

I, Thomas Lewis, with never a care,
Will nothing to no one, I've given my share.

I, Eileen Williams, a maid sweet and true,
Leave to LaRue Harris my eyes of blue.

I, Farrel Thomas, having served my term,
Will my position to some other worm.

I, Charles Nielsen, a well-known pest,
Leave the study hall, by request.

I, Nadel Flint, will my high grades,
To some of the oncoming Junior maids.

I, Ann Price, quite some deal,
Will everything but one "Khalil."

I, Cyril Thomas, may it never be told,
Will to Helen Crowther my pure heart of gold.

I, Keith Merrick, so strong a man,
Will join the service, if I can.

I, Betty Colton, quite a gal,
Will myself to everyone, as a pal.

I, Rex Hansen, so modest and shy,
Will my romances to some other guy.

I, Renee Facer, St. John's choice,
Will all my love to Joyce.

I, Glenna Jo Thorpe, a well-known miss,
Leave to no one but Newel, my kiss.

I, Mildred Hill, who is devoted to my studies,
Will my books to my oncoming buddies.

I, Monta Hill, so quiet and shy,
Leave the high school with a sad good-by.

I, Iris, Ipsen, with my light fluffy hair,
Will to Gayle Thomas my friendly air.

I, Dean Kelly, with Ralene so fair,
Leave the high school to fly in the air.

I, David Clair Jones, with a fear for sluffing,
Will Gilbert Tapper my art of bluffing.

I, Lorraine Thomas, for the Navy I yearn,
Will to "Jug" my ability to learn.

I, Garth James, with Abbie so dear,
Leave Malad for a younger career.

I, Ren Thomson, a study hall napper,
Will myself to Sally Tapper.

I, Roberta Willie, short and fat,
Will to Dorothy Ward my silly laugh.

I, Sally Tapper, with clothes by the ton,
Will my big feet to anyone.

I, Jennie Bea Jones, who sobs so loud,
Will to Monte Thomas the right to cry in a crowd.

I, Lyle Evans, kinda teched in the "Bean,"
Will to Fay Jones the right to be mean.

I, Melba Deschamps, I'm no fool,
Leave forever the path to school.

I, Royce Jones, with half a chance,
Will Earl Meredith my shiny pants.

I, Stanley Isaacson, despite the rumor,
Will to no one my sense of humor.

I, Keith Jones, the leader of the gang,
Will to the Freshies the use of my slang.

I, Robert Jones, a Senior too,
Leave the school feeling very blue.

I, Flora Mills, short and sweet,
Leave to Myrle Jones, the challenge of defeat.

I, Anna Mae Owens, a chubby little vamp,
Will my curly hair to Carma Camp.

I, Mont Parry, upon leaving school,
Leave to Neal John the golden rule.

I, Ella Mae Richards, with my dark fluffy hair,
Will anyone the right to spit and swear.

I, Miriel Talbot, without a stall,
Will gladly answer to my "Call."

I, Eugene Tew, a mighty man,
Will divide my height as equally as I can.

I, Emma Jean Clark, with my love for mirth,
Will it to no one while I'm on earth.

I, Donna Thorpe, a sweet sugar bun,
Will my love to everyone.

I, Carryle Williams, without much choice,
Will to JoAnn Smith my big gruff voice.

I, Dale Williams, upon leaving school,
Will Wanda Jones to some other fool.

I, Floyd Williams, have shocked the preachers,
By leaving all my love to the teachers.

I, Theone Yearsley, with a pure heart of gold,
Will to my sister my ways so bold.

I, Clara Hall, may it never be said,
Leave this school with an empty head.

I, Newel Cutler, with a nickname of "B."
Will Glenna Jo, if she won't marry me.

I, Dean Briggs, the blondes I prefer,
Leave Malad High to become an officer.

I, Brian Kent, who never is mean,
Leave this high school my treasure, Lou Jean.

I, Carol Dawn Hendricks, with my mind all in a flurry,
Am leaving this high school in a hurry.

I, Garn Mabey, whom the ladies all rush,
Will to Don Williams my perpetual blush.

I, Billy Rutter, who is nobody's fool,
Will to some Junior my fourth year of school.

Signed:

President, Newel B. Cutler,
Vice-President, Lyle Evans,
Secretary, Glenna Jo Thorpe.

Witnesses: Advisers,
Elizabeth R. Williams,
Alvin J. Thomas.
